Subject: County Judge – Veteran’s Treatment Court
FY 2027 Specialty Courts Grant Program – Galveston County Veterans Treatment Court
Project Application

Background

Galveston County established the Veteran’s Treatment Court, utilizing funding from the Texas Veterans Commission’s Funds for Veterans Grant, as a specialty court program that supports justice-involved veterans from all branches who are experiencing substance use disorders, mental health challenges, trauma, and/or other barriers that may be connected to their military service. As of 2026, the funding for Galveston’s VTC was cut in half, putting the maintenance of operation of the program at risk since it can no longer pay two essential dedicated personnel required by the Specialty Court Model: the Veterans Treatment Court Coordinator and the Veterans Treatment Court Compliance Officer. The County is seeking to pursue additional funding via the Office of the Governor’s FY2027 Specialty Courts Grant Program to fill the gap in funding for salary and fringe for two these crucial positions.

Summary

The FY 2027 Specialty Courts Grant Program - Galveston County Veterans Treatment Court Project Application requests funding to continue supporting project operations, specifically to cover the cost of salary and fringe benefits for both the Veteran’s Treatment Court Coordinator and the Veteran’s Treatment Court Compliance Officer.

Risk Assessment Tools

List the risk assessment tool(s) and clinical assessment tools(s) that are utilized by this specialty court? Please provide: 1) The name of each assessment tools used; 2) Why the assessment tools were selected for this specific program and the role it plays in this specialty court's case management process; and 3) The position title(s) of the team member(s) responsible for conducting each assessment. If there are any factors limiting the use of additional assessment tools such as the cost associated with an assessment, familiarity with available assessments, etc., please make note of these factors.

The Galveston County Veterans Treatment Court (VTC) utilizes validated clinical and risk assessment tools to ensure that veterans are appropriately screened, referred, and supervised based on individualized needs and risk levels. These assessments guide treatment planning, service referrals, supervision intensity, and case management decisions throughout the participant's involvement in the specialty court program. 1) VA Forensic Evaluation (Clinical Assessment) Assessment Tool Name: Comprehensive VA Forensic Evaluation (completed by VA Forensic Psychiatry) Why Selected / Role in Case Management: This evaluation was selected because it provides an evidence-informed clinical foundation specific to justice-involved veterans who are eligible for VA care. The assessment allows the VTC to evaluate a participant's overall behavioral health and criminogenic needs and provides formal clinical recommendations that strengthen individualized case planning. The evaluation includes assessment of: Risk of criminal recidivism Risk of drug/alcohol relapse Housing stability / housing security Fiscal vulnerability and functional stability The evaluation results are incorporated into the participant's treatment plan and used to coordinate appropriate VA services and referrals, including mental health, substance use treatment, and supportive services. Team Member(s) Responsible for Conducting Assessment: VA Accredited Forensic Psychiatrist (VA) 2) Probation Department Risk/Needs Assessment (Risk Assessment Tool) Assessment Tool Name: Probation Risk/Needs Assessment (completed as part of probation intake process) Why Selected / Role in Case Management: This assessment tool was selected as it is the standardized instrument utilized by the Probation Department to determine supervision level and identify criminogenic needs for individuals placed on probation. For veterans who do not qualify for pre-trial diversion (PTD), the probation risk assessment provides structured guidance to determine: Appropriate supervision intensity Required probation conditions Referrals to treatment and support services The results directly inform the veteran's supervision plan and support ongoing case monitoring and accountability within the court process. Team Member(s) Responsible for Conducting Assessment: Probation Officer / Supervision Officer (Probation Department) Factors Limiting the Use of Additional Assessment Tools At this time, the VTC relies on assessment tools available through partnering agencies (VA forensic evaluation and probation intake assessments). The primary limiting factors in expanding to additional assessment tools include: Cost and licensing fees associated with certain proprietary assessment instruments Training requirements and staff familiarity with new or specialized assessment tools The need to ensure tools are validated for justice-involved populations, including veterans

Project Abstract :

The Galveston County Veterans Treatment Court (VTC), funded since 20XX by the Texas Veterans Commissions' Funds for

Veterans Grant, is a specialized court program (sometimes referred to as a “problem solving court”) that supports justice-involved veterans from all branches who are experiencing substance use disorders, mental health challenges, trauma, and/or other barriers that may be connected to their military service. Specialized staff support veterans through the entirety of the court process by identifying barriers and needs in their lives, developing plans to address their needs, and coordinating aid and resources both in court and out in the community. The staff of the VTC are trained in the specialty court model, which is an evidence-based practice, or practices that have gone through vigorous testing and are shown to bring positive outcomes for veterans if the model is being followed closely. The goal of the Veteran’s Treatment Court is to divert veterans from further involvement in the criminal justice system and assist them to successfully integrate them back into their community. As of 2026, the funding for Galveston’s VTC was cut in half, putting the maintenance of operation of the program at risk since it can no longer pay two essential dedicated personnel required by the Specialty Court Model: the Veterans Treatment Court Coordinator and the Veterans Treatment Court Compliance Officer. These positions are critical to the success of the VTC model because they provide the structure, coordination, and daily oversight necessary for effective participant supervision and service delivery both in the criminal justice system and in the community. Since Galveston County has a notable population of veterans, any reduction in the availability of services could be detrimental to not only the veterans themselves but the community at large. The Court Coordinator manages program administration, scheduling, participant screening, intake coordination, partner collaboration, reporting, and communication with treatment providers and the Veteran’s Association. The Compliance Officer ensures accountability through regular monitoring of court orders, treatment attendance, drug/alcohol testing compliance, and supervision requirements while also helping identify barriers to success and connecting veterans with appropriate resources. Without these positions staffed, the VTC program will not be in alignment with the model’s practices. The risk of not maintaining high adherence to the evidence-based practice is that it could adversely affect the expected positive outcomes of the veteran participants. The purpose of this grant proposal is to maintain and strengthen program operations by filling this gap with funding for the salary and fringe benefits of these two positions in order to continue to provide the best services possible for the veterans they serve. By funding these key staff roles, Galveston County will be able to ensure consistent court operations, timely interventions, and continued individualized support for each participating veteran. This project promotes rehabilitation, improves public safety, and reduces repeat offenses by helping veterans successfully engage in treatment, remain compliant with program requirements, and achieve long-term stability. It benefits both the participant and the community at large.

Problem Statement :

The Galveston County Veterans Treatment Court (VTC) is currently funded by the Texas Veteran’s Commission’s Funds for Veterans Grant. In the past, the grant was able to pay for both direct participant support (ex. Drug/alcohol monitoring, financial assistance, and anything directly benefiting the veteran) and all program staff. For 2026, the VTC funding was cut in half. While the VTC can still fund direct participant support for the program, it will no longer fund for the salary and benefits of two personnel essential to the program’s success: the Court Coordinator and Compliance Officer. Without a dedicated VTC Coordinator and VTC Compliance Officer, operating the program to the highest as level evidenced by the Specialty Court model will be challenging. These positions are critical to the success of the VTC model because they provide the structure, coordination, and daily oversight necessary for effective participant supervision and service delivery both within the criminal justice system and in the community. Without these positions, the VTC will not be able to maintain alignment with high fidelity to the evidence-based practice model for the program, which will adversely affect the expected positive outcomes of the veteran participants. Galveston County seeks to utilize OOG funding to fill this salary and benefit gap for both the VTC Coordinator and VTC Compliance Officer positions. The purpose of this grant proposal is to maintain and strengthen program operations by filling this gap with funding for the salary and fringe benefits of these positions to continue to provide the best services possible for the veterans they serve. Program Model The Galveston County Veterans Treatment Court (VTC) will address the needs of justice-involved veterans by continuing to operate their court to the standards of the evidence-based Specialty Court Veteran’s Treatment Court model, defined in Texas Government Code Chapter 124. This integrated model assesses and addresses the needs of the veteran in the identified aspects they desire, and staff provide collaborative, non-adversarial, interdisciplinary services and support in each realm to assist the veterans in meeting their goals. The model identifies that the VTC team shall consist of staff from, at minimum, six distinct disciplines to be most effective – two of which are a Coordinator and a Probation, or Compliance, officer. The Court Coordinator and Compliance Officer work together with participating veterans to coordinate and support accountability, judicial oversight, coordinated case management, and access to behavioral health and recovery services. Without Coordinator and Compliance Officer assistance, participants would lose critical support in navigating these complex systems, and in turn may cause increased barriers to success and heightened risk of becoming further involved in the criminal justice system. The proposed project will maintain and strengthen program operations by funding the salary and fringe benefits for the Veterans Treatment Court Coordinator and the Veterans Treatment Court Compliance Officer. Together, these positions provide the administrative structure, participant monitoring, and daily support necessary to ensure successful veteran participation and positive program and participant outcomes. Core Activities The Veterans Treatment Court (VTC) operates through a structured, phased program approach. Each participant receives an individualized plan that includes treatment requirements, recovery support, supervision, and court appearances. The VTC team —comprised of the presiding judge, prosecutor, defense counsel, supervision officers, treatment providers, and veteran mentors— meets regularly to review progress and coordinate interventions. The two personnel to be funded by this grant, the Court Coordinator and Court Compliance Officer, will ensure that the program can consistently provide services demonstrating the Essential Characteristics of Specialty Courts, including the following activities: Participant referral review and eligibility screening Timely intake coordination and program orientation Development and monitoring of individualized treatment plans Regular compliance monitoring and documentation Coordinated communication between treatment providers, supervision, VA resources, and the Court Data collection, reporting, and performance monitoring Court session preparation, staffing, and follow-up actions

Supporting Data :

The Galveston County Veterans Treatment Court (VTC) will address the needs of justice-involved veterans by continuing to operate their court to the standards of the evidence-based Specialty Court Veteran's Treatment Court model, defined in Texas Government Code Chapter 124. This integrated model assesses and addresses the needs of the veteran in the identified aspects they desire, and staff provide collaborative, non-adversarial, interdisciplinary services and support in each realm to assist the veterans in meeting their goals. The model identifies that the VTC team shall consist of staff from, at minimum, six distinct disciplines to be most effective – two of which are a Coordinator and a Probation, or Compliance, officer. The Court Coordinator and Compliance Officer work together with participating veterans to coordinate and support accountability, judicial oversight, coordinated case management, and access to behavioral health and recovery services. Without Coordinator and Compliance Officer assistance, participants would lose critical support in navigating these complex systems, and in turn may cause increased barriers to success and heightened risk of becoming further involved in the criminal justice system. Galveston County Veterans Treatment Court (VTC) serves a target population of justice-involved veterans with complex needs related to behavioral health, substance use, and service-connected trauma. Local demographic and public health data confirms that Galveston County has a substantial veteran population and continues to experience significant substance-related public safety and health challenges which directly impact VTC participants.

1) Size of the Target Population: Veterans in Galveston County has a sizeable veteran population that creates an ongoing need for targeted veteran-specific justice interventions. The U.S. Census Bureau estimates 19,656 veterans reside in Galveston County (2019–2023). Additional county profile data estimates veteran prevalence at approximately 6.7% of the population, or 18,379 veterans, based on American Community Survey (ACS data). This population size supports the need for sustained veteran-focused programming and specialized court operations.

2) Local Substance Use / Overdose Impact in Galveston County Substance use—particularly opioid/fentanyl-related harm—continues to significantly impact Galveston County, contributing to criminal justice involvement, relapse risk, and instability among justice-involved veterans. A University of Texas Medical Branch (UTMB) analysis reported that Galveston County had the second-highest drug overdose death rate in Texas in 2020, with approximately 200 deaths per 100,000 persons. This data supports the need for intensive monitoring, structured accountability, and treatment-focused interventions—core elements of the VTC model.

3) Public Safety and Behavioral Health-Related Demand (Local Indicators) Local public safety reports show substantial arrest activity and significant behavioral-health-related service demand, reinforcing the need for programs that address underlying substance use and mental health drivers. The City of Galveston's public safety statistics for January 2024 include 4,559 calls for service and 335 arrests, along with 82 calls to a mental health response team (COAST Team). These local indicators show ongoing system impact and the need for coordinated responses to behavioral health challenges within the justice system. Summary Link to the VTC Need Taken together, these data demonstrate that: Galveston County has a large veteran population, the County has experienced a severe overdose/substance-use burden, and local law enforcement and crisis response systems face continued behavioral-health demand. This evidence supports the necessity of the VTC's specialized model and highlights why stable operational staffing—specifically salary and fringe support for the Court Coordinator and Compliance Officer positions—is essential to maintain intensive supervision, compliance monitoring, and coordinated service delivery

Project Approach & Activities:

The Galveston County Veterans Treatment Court (VTC) will address the needs of justice-involved veterans by using a structured treatment court model that combines accountability, judicial oversight, coordinated case management, and access to treatment and recovery support services. Many participants face underlying challenges such as substance use disorders, mental health conditions (including PTSD), trauma, unstable housing, and limited support systems that increase the risk of continued justice involvement. The VTC model reduces recidivism by addressing these issues through individualized supervision and treatment interventions. The Galveston County Veterans Treatment Court (VTC) will address the needs of justice-involved veterans by continuing to operate their court to the standards of the evidence-based Specialty Court Veteran's Treatment Court model, defined in Texas Government Code Chapter 124. This integrated model assesses and addresses the needs of the veteran in the identified aspects they desire, and staff provide collaborative, non-adversarial, interdisciplinary services and support in each realm to assist the veterans in meeting their goals. The model identifies that the VTC team shall consist of staff from, at minimum, six distinct disciplines to be most effective – two of which are a Coordinator and a Probation, or Compliance, officer. The Court Coordinator and Compliance Officer work together with participating veterans to coordinate and support accountability, judicial oversight, coordinated case management, and access to behavioral health and recovery services. Without Coordinator and Compliance Officer assistance, participants would lose critical support in navigating these complex systems, and in turn may cause increased barriers to success and heightened risk of becoming further involved in the criminal justice system. The proposed project will maintain core program operations by funding the salary and fringe benefits for two essential positions: the Veterans Treatment Court Coordinator and the Veterans Treatment Court Compliance Officer. These roles are central to the daily execution of the Veterans Treatment Court model. Key project activities include participant screening and intake coordination, organizing staffing meetings, preparing court dockets, and ensuring timely communication between the Court, supervision, treatment providers, and veteran support partners. The Court Coordinator will oversee program administration, coordination, scheduling, documentation, and reporting. The Compliance Officer will provide intensive participant monitoring by tracking court-ordered requirements, treatment participation, drug/alcohol testing compliance, and supervision conditions. Together, these staff members ensure the Court can respond quickly to participant progress or noncompliance through appropriate interventions, incentives, and sanctions. By sustaining these positions, Galveston County will preserve the operational capacity needed to deliver consistent monitoring, support recovery, improve public safety, and reduce repeat offenses among justice-involved veterans.

Capacity & Capabilities:

Galveston County has a long-standing commitment to improving public safety through evidence-informed justice interventions and rehabilitation-focused programming. The Galveston County Veterans Treatment Court (VTC) is a specialized treatment court that serves justice-involved veterans by combining structured judicial oversight, accountability, intensive supervision, and a continuum of care for all participants characterized by coordinated access to treatment and recovery services. The VTC's mission is to address the underlying causes of criminal justice involvement—including substance use disorders, trauma, and mental health conditions—while supporting veterans in achieving long-term stability and reducing recidivism. Galveston County VTC has the administrative capacity and operational infrastructure necessary to implement the continuation of the funded roles into this program successfully. The Veterans Treatment Court operates under the leadership of the judiciary and is supported by a multidisciplinary team that includes representatives from the District Attorney's Office, defense counsel, community supervision, treatment providers, veteran mentors, and other community-based partners. This team-based model ensures coordinated decision-making, consistent participant monitoring, and timely intervention, which are essential to the Veterans Treatment Court approach. Organizational and Staff Capabilities Successful implementation of the VTC model requires dedicated staffing, consistent program coordination, and monitoring at both the programmatic and participant level. This funding will specifically supports two essential positions that provide the day-to-day execution of VTC operations. Veterans Treatment Court Coordinator: The Court Coordinator provides overall program administration, coordination, and partnership development with the various systems that the participants may find themselves navigating. Responsibilities include managing referrals and intake coordination, scheduling staffing meetings and court dockets, maintaining participant case files, coordinating communication with justice partners and treatment providers, tracking participant progress, and ensuring documentation and reporting requirements are met throughout the grant period. Veterans Treatment Court Compliance Officer: The Compliance Officer ensures the integrity of the treatment court model through intensive participant monitoring and accountability. Responsibilities include tracking compliance with court orders and program requirements, monitoring drug/alcohol testing results and treatment attendance, verifying participant progress, maintaining ongoing contact with participants as needed, and providing timely updates to the VTC team to support appropriate responses through incentives, sanctions, and intervention planning. These positions are critical to the program's ability to operate effectively and to maintain fidelity to the treatment court model. The qualifications and experience of VTC staff ensure the program can maintain consistent supervision, documentation, and service coordination for participating veterans. Collaborative Partnerships The Galveston County Veterans Treatment Court relies on strong collaborative partnerships with the VA, Family Service Center, VFWs, American Legions, and local veteran support groups to meet participant needs and support successful outcomes. Essential partnerships include: Galveston County Court System / Judiciary Galveston County District Attorney's Office Defense Counsel / Defense Bar Galveston County Community Supervision & Corrections Department (CSCD) Local law enforcement and detention partners, supporting referrals and veteran identification U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs (VA) and veteran service providers, supporting eligible treatment and benefits coordination Behavioral health, substance use treatment, and recovery support providers Veteran mentor program and peer support partners, providing veteran-to-veteran guidance and encouragement These partnerships allow the VTC to coordinate comprehensive services while ensuring ongoing accountability and structured monitoring. Through the continued support of trained and dedicated staff and strong collaboration across justice, treatment, and veteran-serving organizations, Galveston County is fully prepared to carry out the proposed project activities and achieve measurable improvements in veteran outcomes and public safety.

Performance Management :

The Galveston County Veterans Treatment Court (VTC) will measure success throughout the grant period by actively monitoring and evaluating the quality of program performance and participant outcomes against the best-practice standards of the Specialty Court Model, as outlined in the Texas Specialty Court Standards. This ongoing quality assessment will help support the court's mission of reducing recidivism and improving stability for justice-involved veterans by addressing any findings in a timely manner. The overall goal of this project is to maintain effective Veterans Treatment Court operations by funding the salary and fringe benefits for two essential positions: the Court Coordinator and the Compliance Officer. Success will be measured using the following goals and objectives: Maintain consistent VTC operations through timely scheduling of intake meetings within 24 hours of starting the program, staffing meetings every other week, docket preparation, and required reporting weekly. Improve participant compliance and accountability by monitoring court orders, supervision conditions, weekly drug/alcohol testing requirements, and treatment attendance. Improve participant outcomes and reduce repeat justice involvement by increasing retention and graduation rates and reducing new arrests or violations while participants are enrolled. The VTC will collect, track, and maintain relevant data using court records, participant case files, compliance monitoring logs, drug/alcohol testing results, treatment attendance reports, supervision documentation, and program outcome reports. The Court Coordinator will oversee data tracking and program reporting as outlined in the Data Collection Standards for the Office of Court Administrations, while the Compliance Officer will document participant compliance and provide timely updates to the VTC team. This data will be reviewed regularly during staffing meetings to monitor progress, guide interventions, and ensure grant performance standards are met. The Coordinator will complete the best practices assessment appropriate for the VTC as required every three years on a rotating basis.

Target Group :

The Galveston County Veterans Treatment Court (VTC) provides services to justice-involved military veterans within Galveston County who meet eligibility requirements and are appropriate for a treatment court intervention. The primary individuals served are U.S. military veterans (and in some cases active duty, Reserve, or National Guard members when applicable) who have been charged with eligible offenses and who are experiencing substance use disorders, mental health conditions (including PTSD), trauma-related challenges, and/or other behavioral health needs that contribute to criminal justice involvement. The Galveston County Veterans Treatment Court (VTC) partners with the Galveston County Jail to utilize the Veterans Re-Entry Search Service (VRSS) to identify veterans early in the booking process. This allows the VTC to engage eligible veterans as early as possible in the judicial process and connect them with appropriate services and court intervention. In addition, the VTC collaborates with local defense attorneys and judiciary partners to increase awareness and understanding of the VTC program and its benefits for justice-involved veterans. The VTC also has access to a Veterans Justice Outreach (VJO) Specialist through the U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs to assist veterans within Galveston County who request legal support and to help coordinate services and resources. The VTC also indirectly serves: Veterans' families and dependents, who benefit from increased stability, reduced crisis events, and improved household wellbeing The Galveston County community, through improved public safety and reduced reoffending Local criminal justice and emergency response systems, through reduced incarceration time and repeated system involvement In addition, the program coordinates services and support through key partner agencies and groups, including but not limited to: Criminal Justice / County Partners Galveston County Court System / Judiciary (Veterans Treatment Court docket) Galveston County District Attorney's Office Defense Counsel / Public Defender / Defense Bar Galveston County Community Supervision & Corrections Department (CSCD) / Probation Galveston County Sheriff's Office and Detention Facility (Jail) (referrals and veteran identification) Galveston County Pretrial Services (as applicable) Treatment and Support Service Partners U.S. Department of Veterans Affairs (VA) (coordination of eligible treatment, medical care, and behavioral health services) Local mental health and substance use treatment providers (assessment, outpatient services, intensive outpatient treatment, counseling, etc.) Recovery support organizations (peer support groups and sober support resources) Veteran-Specific Supports Veterans Treatment Court Mentor Program / Veteran Peer Mentors, providing peer connection, encouragement, and accountability Veterans service organizations and community partners, assisting with benefits navigation, housing stability, and employment-related needs The primary service population consists of veterans who would otherwise remain at risk of continued criminal justice involvement without the structured accountability, monitoring, and coordinated treatment approach of the Veterans Treatment Court. The program is designed to reduce recidivism and improve long-term outcomes by supporting veterans in achieving recovery, compliance, and stability.

Evidence-Based Practices:

The Galveston County Veterans Treatment Court (VTC) selected its program approach and activities based on well-established research and nationally recognized best-practice models for treatment courts. The VTC design aligns with evidence showing that treatment courts are most effective when they integrate structured judicial oversight with coordinated treatment services, frequent monitoring, and individualized responses to participant behavior. The foundational framework for the proposed approach is consistent with the Adult Treatment Court Best Practice Standards developed by All Rise (formerly the National Association of Drug Court Professionals). These standards represent decades of research on what works in treatment courts and emphasize essential elements such as a multidisciplinary team model, routine judicial interaction, clear participant expectations, coordinated treatment planning, and ongoing performance monitoring. Additionally, the project aligns with federal guidance and evidence-based resources promoted by the U.S. Department of Justice, Bureau of Justice Assistance (BJA), which supports Veterans Treatment Court programs nationwide and highlights the importance of structured operations and best-practice implementation for effective participant outcomes. Research also supports the VTC model as an appropriate strategy to address the distinct needs of justice-involved veterans. The National Institute of Justice (NIJ) has evaluated Veterans Treatment Courts and describes their core purpose as addressing veterans' unique needs and the underlying causes of criminal behavior through services and treatment combined with effective supervision. Further, published studies examining Veterans Treatment Court participant outcomes indicate promising results across multiple areas including criminal justice outcomes, housing, employment, and connection to VA benefits. This evidence also supports the grant's focus on staffing. National best practices emphasize that treatment courts require consistent implementation of key operational functions such as participant tracking, timely communication among team members, compliance monitoring (including treatment attendance and testing), accurate documentation, and structured court staffing sessions. These tasks require dedicated personnel to maintain program fidelity and effectiveness. For this reason, the Galveston County VTC is requesting grant support to fund the salary and fringe benefits for two essential positions: Court Coordinator: responsible for program operations, participant coordination, scheduling, documentation, team staffing, and reporting. Compliance Officer: responsible for intensive participant monitoring, compliance tracking, verification of requirements, and rapid reporting of progress or noncompliance. By supporting these two core positions, the grant will ensure the Veterans Treatment Court has the operational capacity necessary to implement evidence-based practices as intended and to maintain consistent, high-quality services that improve outcomes and reduce recidivism.

ACTIVITY	PERCENTAGE:	DESCRIPTION
Specialty Court - Veterans	100.00	The Galveston County Veterans Treatment Court (VTC) is a specialized court program that supports justice-involved veterans who are experiencing substance use disorders, mental health challenges, trauma, and other barriers that may be connected to military service. The purpose of this grant proposal is to maintain and strengthen program operations through funding for the salary and fringe benefits of two essential positions: the Veterans Treatment Court Coordinator and the Veterans Treatment Court Compliance Officer. These positions are critical to the success of the VTC model because they provide the structure, coordination, and daily oversight necessary for effective participant supervision and service delivery. The Court Coordinator manages program administration, scheduling, participant screening and intake coordination, partner collaboration, reporting, and communication with treatment providers and the VA. The Compliance Officer ensures accountability through regular monitoring of court orders, treatment attendance, drug/alcohol testing compliance, and supervision requirements while also helping identify barriers to success and connecting veterans with appropriate resources. By funding these key staff roles, Galveston County will be able to ensure consistent court operations, timely interventions, and continued individualized support for each participating veteran. This project promotes rehabilitation, improves public safety, and reduces repeat offenses by helping veterans successfully engage in treatment, remain compliant with program requirements, and achieve long-term stability. This grant will cover the cost of both the Veterans Treatment Court Coordinator and the Veterans Treatment Court Compliance Officer for a total of $132,026.83.
